

Principles and Practice of Clinical Research

A Global Journal in Clinical Research

PPCR

ISSN: 2378-1890

Scientist at School: Connecting Elementary Students to University Clinical Research Scientists Through Live Streams During a Pandemic in Southern Brazil

R. Marques Rodrigues^{1*}, CAJ. Oluwafoumi Agani¹, AL. Bard¹, SR. Benitez da Fonseca¹, JM. Uribe Ramos¹, N. Medeiros Soares¹, Â. Celestino de Souza¹, A. Weyh¹, JA. Morales Saute¹

¹Medical Sciences Graduation Program, Faculty of Medicine, Universidade Federal do Rio Grande do Sul, Porto Alegre/RS, Brazil

*Corresponding author: Raul Marques Rodrigues, Av. Ramiro Barcelos, 2400, 2nd floor, Medical Sciences Graduation Program, Faculty of Medicine, Universidade Federal do Rio Grande do Sul, Porto Alegre, Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, 90035003. Email: raulmrodrigues@hotmail.com.

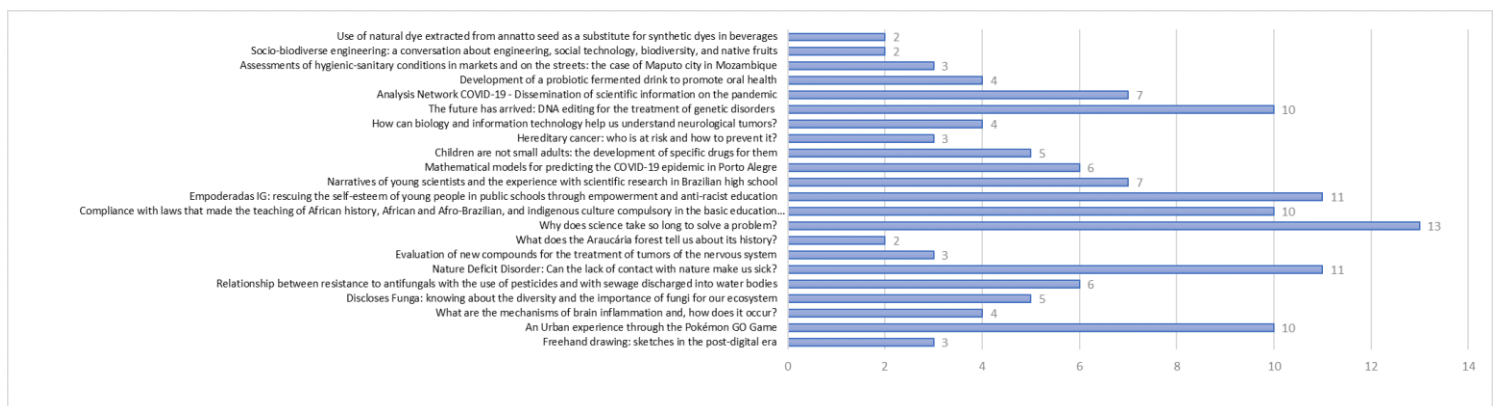

Received February 27, 2021; accepted May 12, 2021; published August 19, 2021.

DOI: <http://dx.doi.org/10.21801/ppcrj.2021.72.5>

SUPPLEMENTARY DATA

Supplementary Figure 1

Theme Survey Results

Note. Plot of the topic suggestions after the second live. The three most vote topics were: "Why does science take so long to solve a problem?" (n=13), "Empowered IG: rescuing the self-esteem of young people in public schools through empowerment and anti-racist education" (n=11) and "Nature Deficit Disorder: Can the lack of contact with nature make us sick?" (n=11).